

WHITEWATER®

Entertain the Possibilities

After Sales & Maintenance Services

Dedicated to Helping You Maximize the Lifespan of Your Water Parks & Attractions

While most of us are excited about investing in a great new waterslide, play structure, or water ride, very few understand the importance of maintaining it. From faded and rusted surfaces to cracks and leaky joints, day-to-day wear, and tear not only makes your slides look outdated and unkept, it makes them unsafe. Attraction maintenance is critical to assure guest safety and satisfaction and your return on investment.

That is why, it is vital to protect your investment in your waterpark equipment with a dedicated maintenance and support service. The ongoing maintenance of a water park ensures the longevity of your slides and play structures, enhances your water park's visual appeal, and safeguards your products for years to come.

About WhiteWater After Sales & Maintenance Services

At WhiteWater, we understand and value the investment you have made in your water park. WhiteWater West's After Sales and Maintenance Services team is committed to helping you maximize the lifespan of your water parks and attractions.

Whether it's:

1. Refurbishing an attraction, from dry dock cruise ship projects to water ride boats
2. A waterslide inspection, or
3. Play structure rejuvenation or upgradation, to
4. Manufacturing certified parts

We can help you address your needs with a dedicated customer service and competitive pricing. We have developed a complete line of unique, custom-made water slide and water park maintenance products and services that can bring your water slides and play structures back to life and keep them running for years to come. We also provide a range of certified spare parts for other product 'dry' lines like Ballocity.

- Foam ball supply (for Ballocity™ and Foam Factory® structures)
- Play element replacement and repair
- Replacement and spare parts supply and installation
- Theming and retrofitting existing structures

Life Floor

We've found a new way to improve the safety and look of your water play attractions. Using our brand strength, WhiteWater is proud to bring Life Floor to water parks, worldwide. An award-winning aquatics flooring company, Life Floor manufactures the comprehensive flooring surface solution designed specifically for the unique needs of water parks.

Created as an alternative to conventional surface coatings, Life Floor is a foam-rubber flooring system that delivers unparalleled safety, play value, and comfort - making it a perfect fit with WhiteWater's water play product lines.

Why flooring matters more than you think

Slips and falls are a challenge in any water park environment. While conventional surfaces often use abrasive coatings, Life Floor has been designed for how people actually want to play in water: barefoot. Life Floor tiles are soft for bare feet, and slip-resistant without being abrasive. Their Ripple 2.0 texture, with deeper grooves, reduces hydroplaning and is popular on applications such as play structure platforms, stair towers, ramps, zero-depth entries, pool decks, and below multi-level play structures.

TRACTION: Life Floor tiles are designed to be slip-resistant without being abrasive. British Pendulum results range from 40-55 depending on texture, giving Life Floor the highest possible BPN result worldwide versus conventional coatings.

NON-ABRASIVE SURFACE: If you fall on surfaces or coatings that create traction with sharp, gritty texture, you risk cutting, scraping, and other laceration-type injuries. Life Floor provides superior traction without the injuries.

IMPACT-ABSORPTION: If someone does fall, the high impact built-in cushioning of Life Floor will minimize the bumps and bruises, while the tile's soft surface will prevent cuts and scrapes.

Slips and falls are the most common waterpark injury and Life Floor dramatically reduces these incidents. Our maintenance department can help you retrofit Life Floor into spots you know you have trouble with slips and falls and install it to help take this worry away. Plus, the bright colors and designs possible with Life Floors can help improve the visual impact of your park.
